Asia-Pacific Journal of Rural Development (APJORD), a half-yearly academic journal, is a flagship publication of CIRDAP. It is devoted to the issues and discussions on rural development, primarily in the Asia-Pacific region.

The journal provides a platform for the academicians, policymakers, NGOs, research scholars and others interested in integrated rural development (IRD), to exchange and share ideas, opinions, field observations, and empirical findings on various facets of rural development.

APJORD focuses on poverty issues and rural transformation, keeping in view the four programme priorities of CIRDAP, namely (i) Agrarian Development; (ii) Institutional/ Infrastructural Development; (iii) Resource Development including Human Resources; and (iv) Employment.

With this interdisciplinary journal, CIRDAP fulfils its mandate as a service institution to its member countries for promoting IRD through dissemination of knowledge.

NOTE TO CONTRIBUTORS

1.0 Aims

The Asia-Pacific Journal of Rural Development (APJORD) is an interdisciplinary journal devoted to issues and discussions on rural development primarily in the Asia-Pacific region. APJORD focuses on poverty issues and rural transformation, keeping in view the four programme priorities of CIRDP, namely, (1) Agrarian Development; (2) Institutional/Infrastructural Development; (3) Resource Development including Human Resources; and (4) Employment.

2.0 Submission of Articles

Articles are accepted for publication provided they are submitted to APJORD only. If there is more than one author, a statement to the effect that the article has been approved by all the authors must accompany it. It is the responsibility of the author(s) to obtain permission for the use of previously published or unpublished materials including tables and figures. All articles are subject to peer review and may be revised if necessary. The editor's decision regarding articles submitted for publication is final. Copyright rests with CIRDP.

Authors are entitled to three complimentary copies of the issue in which their articles appear. Articles written between 4,000-5,000 words are preferred. Both the hard copy and soft copy of the write-up must have to be submitted to the editor. The soft copy either may be given in floppy diskette/pen drive/CD or can be sent as an attachment to the e mail address: infocom@cirdap.org.

Typescripts should be submitted in duplicate, on A4 size paper, typewritten on one side, in double space, with margins of at least 2.54 cm. (one inch). Statistical tables, illustrations and charts should be submitted on separate sheets, and their positions should be indicated in the text.

3.0 Style and Presentation

APJORD mostly follows the Chicago Manual of Style for preparing articles. Authors should, as far as possible, adhere to the following basic requirements of style:

- i. The name and institutional affiliation of the author should appear as a footnote on the first page together with acknowledgement, if any.
- ii. An abstract of approximately 200 words should precede the text on the first page. It should be titled 'Abstract' indented, italicised and centred.
- iii. British and 's' spellings should be used. Numbers from zero to ten should be spelled out, and numerals should be used for all other numbers.
- iv. Where references are made without any comment, they should be inserted at the appropriate places in the body of the text in parenthesis giving the surname of the author(s) and year of publication of the work under reference, eg. (Shama 1915: 41), (Mayco and Santalins 1991: 18), (Jupitar 1985: 21; Razia 1999: 66).
- v. Where references are made with detailed notes/comments, they should appear as Notes, numbered sequentially throughout the article by superscripting in raised Arabic numbers and the corresponding notes appearing as footnotes or listed sequentially at the end of the article.

vi. The reference list should appear after the Notes. For books give author's surname, other name(s) and/initial(s), year of publication, title of publication, place of publication, and publisher, eg.

Syed, Shireen Kamal. 1992. Women in Post-harvest Loss Prevention. Dhaka: Centre on Integrated Rural Development for Asia and the Pacific.

Tamanga, A., N Shrestha., K. Sharma, and S. Kathi. 1994. Case Studies of Women with Abortion Experiences. Kathmandu: IDS.

Acharya, Meena. 1994. Political Participation of Women in Nepal. In Nelson, Barbara and Chowdhury, and Norma edited Women and Politics Worldwide. London: Yale University Press.

For Journal articles, give the author's surname, other name(s) and/or initial(s), year of publication, title of article, volume and issue number, and inclusive pagination. eg.

Quarantelli, E.L. 1992. Can and Should Social Science Disaster Research Knowledge and Findings from Developed Societies be Applied in Developing Societies? Asia-Pacific Journal of Rural Development, Vol. II, No. 2. Pp. 1-14.

CIRDAP

The Centre on Integrated Rural Development for Asia and the Pacific (CIRDAP) is a regional, intergovernmental and autonomous institution. It was established in 1979 at the initiative of the countries of the Asia-Pacific region and the Food and Agriculture Organisation (FAO) of the United Nations with support from other UN organisations and donor countries/agencies. The member countries of CIRDAP are: Afghanistan, Bangladesh (host state), Fiji Islands, India, Indonesia, Iran, Lao PDR, Malaysia, Myanmar, Nepal, Pakistan, the Philippines, Sri Lanka, Thailand and Vietnam.

The main objectives of the Centre are to: (i) assist national action, (ii) promote regional cooperation, and (iii) act as a servicing institution for its member countries for promotion of integrated rural development through research, action research, training and information dissemination. Amelioration of rural poverty in the Asia-Pacific region has been the prime concern of CIRDAP.

The programme priorities of CIRDAP are set under four Areas of Concern: 1) Agrarian development; 2) Institutional/infrastructural development; 3) Resource development including human resources; and 4) Employment. Within these areas of concern, the thematic areas are: Poverty alleviation through participatory approaches with emphasis on social sector development (e.g. health, education and nutrition); Employment generation through microcredit support, infrastructure development and local resource mobilisation; GO-NGO collaboration; Gender issues; Governance issues; and Environmental concerns for sustainable rural development.

Operating through designated Contact Ministries and Link Institutions in the member countries, CIRDAP promotes technical cooperation among nations of the region. It plays a supplementary and reinforcing role in supporting and furthering the effectiveness of integrated rural development programmes in the Asia-Pacific region.
